At the annual meeting, March, 1888, the town appropriated for a bridge in district No. 13 the sum of $1,500. This sum was raised by assessment with the other appropriations, but was not expended for the purpose appropriated by the board of that year nor was it referred to in their report, but the amount, with other money in the treasury, was applied to increase the assets of the town. This appropriation should have been charged as a liability of the town in making up the report.

The bridge has been constructed by the selectmen of the past year at a cost of $2,174.84, as appears by their accounts, and the appropriation has been exceeded by the sum of $674.84. This was a necessary expense in order to get a permanent and sufficient foundation for the iron structure placed upon it, and we are satisfied that the money was well and economically expended.

Some extra expenses have fallen upon the town the past year which only occur once in eight or ten years. One of these has been the shingling of the covered bridge across the Saco river in district No. 8, at an expense of $353.37.

The growth of our village has required quite an amount of expense in drain pipe, where water has heretofore been conducted off in open gutters. These have had to be filled for approaches to the houses which have been recently built on the streets, and the water carried along in pipes. More or less expense of this kind will be required each year, but no heavy expense in the near future. The selectmen report amount paid for drain pipe, $448.03. This amount has been placed in districts 1, 4, 8, 13 and 15, the larger portion in district 13.

The town also appropriated the sum of $700 for a fire proof vault to be attached to the town house, also the sum of $500 for school books, and $100 to pay land damage to J. P. Pitman, in all $1,300, and authorizes the selectmen to hire upon the credit of the town the amount of these appropriations. Of this sum they have found it necessary to hire $1,000 only.

It appears from the report of the selectmen that our schoolhouses, bridges and highways are now in good repair, and no extra amount will be required for expenses in this direction for several years.

We feel well satisfied with the administration of the town for the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN C. L. WOOD, Auditor.

Report of School Board.

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE CONWAY SCHOOL DISTRICT:

In the apportionment of the duties of the School Board, the same general plan was followed as last year, with the understanding that the work of visiting schools should largely devolve upon Mrs. Norcross, and that the duties of Secretary and Treasurer, together with the purchase and distribution of school books, should be undertaken by Dr. Evans, neither member of the board giving up the general supervision and responsibility of the entire school system. The sickness and death of Mrs. Norcross, however, broke up this arrangement, and threw the entire work of the board upon the two surviving members, until Sept. 23d, when, at the request of many citizens, Miss Mary K. Davis was appointed to the vacancy, and has since acted as a member of the board. Your board has used its best endeavors for the prosperity of the school system of this town, and if it has failed in any respect it has not been for want of the disposition to do its best. In the selection of teachers it has exercised the greatest care to secure the best talent obtainable, and feels warranted in the statement that in no instance has it been much disappointed, and that many of the teachers have proved themselves far above the average in efficiency. The board wishes here to call attention to certain points of importance in connection with school affairs. First, the success of a school and the progress of the scholars depend, not alone upon the teacher, but equally upon the pupils and largely upon the parents. A scholar who will not make any effort himself cannot be made to learn. Knowledge cannot be forced into an unwilling or sluggish brain. The assertion, often made by parents, that "my children have or have not learned well," is no criterion by which to judge of a school, nor is it any fair standard by which to gauge the capabilities of a teacher. A successful school must be the product of the conjoined efforts of teacher, pupils and parents. Again, one of the greatest—perhaps the greatest—obstacle to the efficiency of our schools is irregularity of attendance. This great evil pervades every district, with one or two notable exceptions. It is a safe assertion that the pupil who misses one or two half days in each week thereby fails of one-half the benefit that should accrue to him from his school. The board would feel remiss in its duty did it not appeal in the strongest terms to parents to bethink themselves of the wrong and injury they are perpetrating upon their children when they encourage or permit this irregularity of attendance.

In this report the old numbering of the districts is retained for convenience. Wages are given by the week, including board.

DISTRICT No. 1.—Two terms of eight weeks each. Wages, $7.50. First term by Alice B. Glines. Number of pupils, 17; average attendance, 15. Second term by Mary E. Hilton. Number of pupils, 19; average attendance, 15. Miss Hilton taught a good school.

DISTRICT No. 2.—Two terms of ten weeks each. Wages, $6.00. First term by Nellie M. Fursden. Number of pupils, 12; average attendance, 6—a bad average. Second term by Minnie G. Riley. Number of pupils, 7; average attendance, 6. Both terms satisfactory to the board. Second term satisfactory to the people of the district.

DISTRICT No. 3.—One term of four weeks, by Julia A. Thoms. Wages, $7.00. Pupils, 3; average attendance, 1. Closed for want of scholars.

DISTRICT No. 4.—Two terms of ten weeks each; both by Eva D. Walker. Wages, $8.00. First term—pupils, 44; average attendance, 35. Second term—pupils, 47; average attendance, 39. A good school.

DISTRICT No. 5.—One term of eight weeks, by Nannie W. Carleton. Wages, $6.00. Pupils, 3; average attendance, 3. A bright exception to the general rule of irregular attendance. Not a single instance of absence or tardiness during the term. An excellent school.

Fall term—scholars transported to District 13.

DISTRICT No. 6.—Two terms of ten weeks each; both by Edna G. Eastman. Wages, $6.00. First term—pupils, 33; average attendance, 27. Second term—pupils, 22; average attendance, 19. One of our best schools. Special improvement in primary classes.

DISTRICT No. 7.—Two terms of ten weeks each; both by Mrs. C. K. Thompson. Wages, $6.00. First term—pupils, 8; average attendance, 8. Second term—pupils, 9; average attendance, 9. Another notable exception to the bad rule of irregular attendance. A faithful teacher; an excellent school.

DISTRICT No. 8.—Primary. Two terms of 10 weeks each; both by Mattie Lewis. Wages, $8.00. First term—pupils, 37; average attendance, 30. Second term—pupils, 42; average attendance, 34. Much absence and tardiness. Miss Lewis deserves great credit for what she has accomplished in this school during her two years of service, in spite of the serious drawback of irregular attendance.

DISTRICT No. 8.—Grammar. Two terms of ten weeks each. Wages, $11 00. First term by S. W. Marsh. Pupils, 55; average attendance, 46. Second term by Fred E. Bragdon. Pupils, 48; average attendance, 34. Register thickly sprinkled with marks of absence and tardiness. Mr. Marsh is an experienced and efficient teacher. Mr. Bragdon is younger, and has less experience, but made a strong effort to have a good school. But no teacher can do justice to himself or his pupils who is hampered by the irregular attendance and the spirit of insubordination which reigns in this school.

DISTRICT No. 9.—The two scholars in this district were sent to neighboring schools in the town of Eaton.

DISTRICT No. 10.—Two terms of ten weeks each. Both by Martha O. Hobbs. Wages, $6 00. First term—pupils, 14; average attendance, 10. Second term—pupils, 16; average attendance, 12. Miss Hobbs is a faithful and conscientious teacher, securing good results from a rather unfavorable environment.

DISTRICT No. 12.—Two terms of ten weeks each. Both by Hattie F. Woodward. Wages, $6 00. First term—pupils, 9; average attendance, 7. Second term—pupils, 8; average attendance, 8. A good teacher, good scholars, parents enforcing regular attendance and sustaining the authority of the teacher. Here are the elements necessary for the production of a good school. Consequently it was a good school. Fortunate the child who is schooled in the rural districts.

DISTRICT No. 13.—Primary. Two terms of ten weeks each. Both by Martha M. Burnell. Wages, $8 00. First term—pupils, 44 ; average attendance, 33. Second term—pupils, 49 ; average attendance, 41. One of the best of our schools, barring the drawback of irregular attendance. Miss. Burnell is a model teacher. Her management and methods are deserving of the highest praise. Her register is the best and most neatly kept of any in town.

DISTRICT No. 13.—Grammar. Two terms of ten weeks each. Both by Francis L. Cook. Wages, $11. First term—pupils, 51 ; average attendance, 42.00. Second term—pupils, 55 ; average attendance, 45. Mr. Cook is a faithful and laborious teacher. Perhaps a little more sternness of discipline might have been better, but on the whole results were good. If parents would make an effort to secure constant and regular attendance, this school would be much more profitable.

DISTRICT No. 14.—Two terms of ten weeks each. First term by Nellie G. Ham. For special reasons the wages for this term were placed at $8.50. Pupils, 34 ; average attendance, 24. Second term by Frederica B. Smith. Wages, $8. Pupils, 30 ; average attendance, 23. Both teachers were earnest and faithful in their efforts, and the fact that they secured such admirable results in spite of the low rate of attendance speaks loudly in praise of their methods.

DISTRICT No. 15.—Two terms of ten weeks each. Wages $8. First term by Mary K. Davis. Pupils, 38 ; average attendance, 31. Second term by Mary A. Mead. Pupils, 26 ; average attendance, 20. Miss Davis' reputation as a teacher is established and was here well maintained. Miss Mead labored hard and succeeded admirably, notwithstanding the prevailing hindrance.

DISTRICT No. 16.—Two terms of ten weeks each. First term by Mary Abbott. Wages $7. Pupils, 33 ; average attendance, 25. Second term by Julia A. Thoms. Wages $7.50. Pupils, 30; average attendance, 19. The worst average in the whole lot. So far as the teachers are concerned this school was satisfactory.

DISTRICT No. 17.—Two terms of ten weeks each. Wages $6. First term by Rose A. Fursden. Pupils, 6; average attendance, 5. Second term by Nellie M. Fursden. Pupils, 6; average attendance, 4.
